

VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Alexis Chavers, Music Instructor

Alexis is one of the teachers that brings music into TRIBE Seminole Heights. She found TRIBE on Facebook while looking for a volunteering opportunity in Seminole Heights. Her history with teaching children has made her an essential teacher at this community center.

After leaving the district for graduate school, Alexis could not help but feel like she had let her students down, but when she returned and ended up at TRIBE, she saw an opportunity to make a real change in the kids' lives. "Whenever I teach at Tribe that little hole in my heart that I thought would never be filled when I left my job, it fills more and more with each Tribe class I teach."

As for her favorite part about TRIBE, she places the uplifting environment above all else. "I love the sense of community and learning going on as well as the environment in general. It's very uplifting and positive." This energy she describes is bursting throughout the building: "You can feel it every time you walk up those stairs."

Alexis recommends volunteering at TRIBE to all of her friends, and she is even in the process of getting her sorority more involved with TRIBE in the upcoming year. "They say it takes a village to raise a child. I really think it takes a Tribe, and there's no better Tribe than TRIBE Seminole Heights."

Come meet Alexis at one of her music classes at TRIBE Seminole Heights.
